

Paul Whelan, Imperial College Business School

Paul Whelan is a PhD candidate studying financial economics. His research interests are in the areas of theoretical and empirical asset pricing with a specific focus in fixed income markets. During his PhD Paul has presented at American Finance Association, Western Finance Association, and European Finance Association meetings, and has received several awards for his research, including GARP Risk Management Research Award (2013), AFA Doctoral Student Travel Grant (2013), Q-Group Grant Award (2011), and Carefin-Bocconi Research in Finance Grant Award (2010).

In January 2015 Paul will be on the academic job market attending ASSA meetings in Boston.